VIOLENT REPRISALS FEARED

POLICE: MUSLIMS KILLED MALCOLM X

Police carry Malcolm X as the fatally shot black nationalist leader is taken from the Audobon Ballroom in New York yesterday.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Heavy police reinforcements here and in Chicago moved in today to prevent war between Black Muslims and the followers of Malcolm X, the renegade Negro nationalist leader assassinated Sunday.

Malcolm, ousted heir apparent to Black Muslim leader Elijah Muhammad, was cut down by a hail of bullets as he spoke to his faithful at a rally. Police blamed the Black Muslim movement for the execution and said they feared violent reprisals by Malcolm's associates —especially in Chicago where Muhammad lives.

Extra police by the hundreds stood guard this morning in Harlem to stem internecine strife among the splintered Black Nationalists. A special command post was set up in a park department building in Mt. Morris Park with equipment for instant phone and radio communication with every policeman in the racially seething section of Manhattan.

Police Ready Barricades

Not since rioters roared through Harlem's streets last summer had such emergency police measures been taken. Tow trucks, emergency trucks, communications trucks and trucks loaded with wooden street barricades stood in readiness outside the Mt. Morris nerve center.

In Chicago, heavy patrols were stationed near Muhammad's home and other security measures were put in effect as a result of reports that six of Malcolm's associates, bent on revenge, left New York in separate automobiles heading in different directions. At least two were believed en route to Chicago.

Early today, detectives booked on homicide charges a 22-year-old Negro who they said fired a sawed-off shotgun at Malcolm X Sunday as he arose in a Harlem auditorium to address 500 of his followers.

Malcolm, a Muslim defector and bitter foe of Muhammad, died in a hail of shotgun and pistol shots before the terrified audience which included his hysterically screaming wife and at least one of their four daughters.

City Medical Examiner Dr. Milton Halpern said that Malcolm died of multiple wounds of the heart and aorta by bullets of different calibers and shotgun pellets, indicating that at least three assassins mowed him down. Halpern said the Negro leader was hit many times in the chest and lower extremities and once in the face.

The police source said the two Chicago-bound allies of Malcolm were young moustachioed Negroes wearing turbans. One was described as the godfather to one of Malcolm's children.

GIRL CHOKED TO DEATH

No Suspects In Murder

By AL CHESTER
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Police have turned up no suspects in the murder of Mary Grace Triolo, whose bruised and near-frozen body was found Saturday morning in Tullytown.

Tullytown police, together with state police from the Bethlehem and Trevose Barracks and county detectives, have been working around the clock to piece together the scanty evidence.

Choked To Death

Mary Grace, who would have been 16 on March 12, was choked to death, then left in a field off Main St., Tullytown. Her body was discovered at 6:30 Saturday morning lying face down under a tree between Meenan Oil Co. and an adjoining house.

She was wearing blue slacks and a white blouse. Her loafers and checkered coat were found about 100 feet from the body.

Police have been talking to friends and schoolmates of Mary Grace in an effort to pinpoint her activities Friday night. Investigators questioned some 40 people over the weekend, including two teenage boys who reportedly offered the slain girl a ride outside the Tullytown Bowling Lanes at 10 o'clock.

Retrace Activities

Police have so far established that Mary Grace was in the bowling alley off of Main St. some time between 7 and 8 p.m. Friday, and again at 10 o'clock. She was alone both times, police reported. She was last spotted with an unidentified companion at 10:30 at the Five Points Diner.

The autopsy, performed by Dr. John J. McGraw, chief pathologist at Lower Bucks Hospital, revealed marks on the neck and numerous bruises and scratches, particularly of the feet. Dr. McGraw said the girl's windpipe was 90 per cent closed. The neck marks were indefinite, he said. Consequently he could not determine whether they were caused by hands or an object such as a scarf.

2 Ounces

The autopsy also showed .112 per cent of alcohol in the girl's blood, indicating she had consumed approximately two ounces of liquor.

The girl had not been molested, Dr. McGraw said. The time of death could not be pinpointed since sub-freezing temperatures Friday night and Saturday morning had retarded body deterioration.

Mary Grace, who lived at 75 Fallsington Ave. with her mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Molnar, was a ninth grade student at Medill Bair High School, Fairless Hills.

Good Evening!

Washington's Birthday.

One of his most cherished, practical and sensible legacies was a bit of advice the Revolutionary War hero and first president gave his country: "To be prepared for war is one of the most effectual means of preserving peace."

Maybe all of us should remember this when, occasionally, we are inclined to criticize taxes for military hardware and installations designed to keep the Commies from getting out of hand.

Winter sneaky.

Yesterday almost like spring, today almost like the arctic with from two to four inches of snow blowing around in 20-degree winds and for the next few days it seems you'll be consigned to shivering.

The fiery, renegade Negro fanatic and hate-peddler Malcolm X shot to death during a New York rally yesterday and obviously his assassination was the result of a feud between him and the Black Muslims.

Fame, whatever its nature or however ignoble, always a very fragile thing. Mr. X will never know.

But we know that state, county and local police should lose no time bringing to justice the cruel murderer of 15-year-old Grace Triolo, of Tullytown and the quicker this happens the better.

There'll be a day when this Lower Bucks County region, all too casual about its growing crime, must learn that such awful tragedies as the Triolo case CAN and DO happen here.

Lefty Bob Charles wins the $46,000 Tucson open with practically no competition. Bill Casper must still have been counting his Phoenix winnings.

And the Phillies winging their way to Clearwater. A few days ago we'd have figured this an exciting omen (record early spring). Now all we want to do is to go with 'em.

The reason they don't have women for after-dinner speakers is because women can't wait that long to tell it.

Refuses To Visit Saigon

Khanh Agrees To Step Down But Won't Put It In Writing

SAIGON (UPI) — Deposed strongman Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh balked today at orders from the Armed Forces Council to come to Saigon and sign his resignation.

The Vietnamese military council said Khanh had agreed to step down after a series of telephone conversations with generals who voted him out as chairman and stripped him of his military command.

Khanh remained at his headquarters at Vung Tau, 40 miles from Saigon. It was reported that he was refusing to come here until some face-saving measure had been worked out.

A delegation from the Armed Forces Council went to Vung Tau to try to persuade Khanh to come to Saigon and officially resign as a prelude to his departure from South Viet Nam.

The Communists, apparently seeking to take advantage of the confused political situation, launched an offensive over the weekend against a vital highway linking the Vietnamese army's II Corps headquarters at Pleiku with its seacoast supply depots.

A U.S. military spokesman said the Viet Cong attacked two government outposts and fought a head - on battle with a Vietnamese marine unit in the area where highway 19 cuts through the jungles in the mountainous region about 260 miles northeast of Saigon.

He said incomplete reports indicated the government suffered more than 100 casualties, killed, wounded and missing. Communist losses were reported at 16 killed.

Yanks Deny Involvement

Khanh was deposed as armed forces commander - in - chief by order of Chief of State Phan Khac Suu Sunday. At the same time he lost this position as chairman of the Armed Forces Council, wich includes all of the country's top generals.

An American Embassy spokesman denied reports of involvement of the American mission here in the disappearance of some of the 14 persons

Father Of 5 Killed

Police To Question Driver In Hospital

By SCOOP LEWIS
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Middletown Township police are marking time until they can question a hospitalized motorist in connection with the death yesterday morning of a 38-year-old Levittown father of five children.

Killed instantly in a head-on crash on Route 1, near Parkland, was Robert E. McLane of 328 Red Cedar Drive, at 6:46 a.m. as he was on his way to work in Wayne, Pa.

Ninth In LBC

McLane's auto was struck by a vehicle operated by Raul Gananca, 22, of 878 Shawmut Ave., New Bedford, Mass. Gananca is in critical condition in Lower Bucks County Hospital, suffering from a possible concussion, fractured right leg, fractured jaw and lacerations.

Middletown Patrolman Richard Brigham, who investigated the fatality — the ninth in Bucks County this year — said he would not be able to question Gananca about the crash until tomorrow — at the earliest.

Attended Mass

McLane, a carpenter with Main Lines Home, was killed only moments after he had attended Sunday Mass at St. Michael the Archangel Church, Levittown, with two of his daughters, Susan, 14, and Margaret, 16. He had dropped his daughters off at home before going to work on a housing development.

ROBERT E. McLANE

Police said McLane's 1955 auto was traveling east on Route 1 at Rising Sun Ave., about three-quarters-of-a-mile west of Hulmeville Road, when it was struck by Gananca's 1964 auto. The crash occurred on a curve in front of the Villa Bar.

On Wrong Side

Brigham reported that Gananca was traveling east and was on the wrong side of the road when the head-on collision occurred. The officer said Gananca may have fallen asleep, passed out or lost control of the

'So Young, So Much To Live For'

A Bereaved Mother Wonders Why

By GREG NAGY
Courier-Times Staff Writer

"Can I stay out a little later tonight?" Mary Grace Triolo asked her mother Friday.

The next morning her body was found in a field off Main St. in Tullytown, less than a mile from her home.

Suffered Stroke

Mrs. Eva Molnar had this and other sad remembrances of her youngest daughter. Before leaving for work at Del-Val Plastic Inc., Tullytown, she told Mary Grace to be home by 11 p.m. and to look in once in a while after her husband, Louis, who recently suffered a stroke which paralyzed part of his right side.

Benjamin Triolo, the girl's uncle, returned from his job at the Paterson Parchment Paper Co. at 11:15 p.m. When Mrs. Molnar returned from her job after working on the 4 p.m. to midnight shift, she told her brother to check the home of her daughter's girlfriend, Susan Johnson, 347 Main St. in the hope he would find Mary Grace there.

Knocked On Door

When he returned, Mrs. Molnar said she went out at 1:30 a.m. and knocked on the doors of her neighbors, but nobody answered. Discouraged by the bitter cold, she returned home.

"They have got to find this man. If they don't kill him, I'll do it myself. She never harmed anyone — she didn't deserve this — she was so young and had so much to live for," Mrs. Molnar, said, fighting back her tears.

"I was going to get her a driver's permit for her 16th birtheday which would have been March 12," the distraught mother added.

All-Day Institute At Delhaas

Comedian Gregory Jokes, Talks Seriously

By AL CHESTER
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Negro Comedian Dick Gregory, stopping at Delhaas High School on his way to Selma, Ala., where he faces a disorderly conduct trial, had 150 police officers and government officials in hysterics today.

But underneath his joking ran a serious comment on the plight of the American Negro.

Gregory spoke and joked for 45 minutes before the all-day Institute on Local Government Responsibility in Racial and Community Tensions, sponsored by the Lower Bucks County Regional Cooperation Council.

Not Too Dark

He quipped to a cameraman, "Don't make me too dark." But he was dead serious when he said, "We are in a great social revolution — not black against white but right against wrong."

Speaking of racial tensions in New York and Philadelphia, Gregory said, "These are not incidents of race against race, but are the means the depressed ghetto Negro has found for protest.

"These are not looters as pictured in the newspapers, because no one loots before 7,000 police. But they will PROTEST in front of 7,000 police."

Gregory told the audience of police officers that although the Negro grievance lies elsewhere, "all that these protesters see is your uniform."

Malcolm X

Speaking earlier in a news conference, Gregory termed the death of Malcolm X, "shocking." He said he knew Malcolm X quite well, and that, "he was about to make the changes I had advocated — for a non-violent approach to Negro problems."

Gregory said that Malcolm X "woke up when he saw the growth of the non-violent movement. The murdered Negro extremist," Gregory said, "fought for Civil Rights, whether he realized it or not."

The Negro comedian conceded that if it came to a showdown the average Negro would have supported Malcolm X. "He made radical statements," Gregory said, "but he was saying the things that Negroes had

Steel Union Starts Official Vote Tally

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The official tabulation of ballots cast in the bitter United Steelworkers Union (USW) presidential election began today.

There were reports the process may take as long as three weeks because of protests filed.

The vote count of the hotly contested race between incumbent President David J. McDonald and his opponent, USW Secretary-Treasurer I. W. Abel, got underway at 9 a.m. EST in the union's international headquarters here.

Union sources said more than 300 protests have been filed for various reasons and that each one must be acted upon before a final and official vote tabulation can be announced. The sources estimated that this may take as long as three weeks.

The vote count from the Feb. 9 election was under the supervision of the union's three international tellers—John Shipperbottom, Wayne Antrim and Steve Caruso. The actual counting was being done by the Honest Ballot Association of New York.

The deadline for return sheets from the locals was last Friday midnight. Ballots received after that time are invalid, according to the USW constitution.

The Labor Department has assigned two representatives to be on hand when ballots from 3,203 locals in the United States and Canada are opened.

Charles Donahue, solicitor of labor, and Frank M. Kleiler, director of labor and management and pension reports, will be present as government representatives.

The Labor Department said arrangements for their presence was "made by mutual agreements" of McDonald and Abel.

According to a union source between 100 and 200 locals either did not conduct elections or did not report results.

An unofficial tabulation by UPI from 2,907 of 3,203 locals showed 290,188 for Abel and 285,770 for McDonald.

Returns from some locals are expected to be invalidated by the international tellers for varying reasons. It was recalled that when Donald C. Rarick unsuccessfully opposed McDonald for the presidency in 1957, votes from 58 locals were tossed out.

The tellers must inform each local if its ballots were invalidated and why. The tellers must release results of their completed tallies to the locals by May 1.

During the long and often vituperative campaign, charges and counter-charges were hurled by McDonald, 62, and his 56-year-old rival.

McDonald said Abel forces favor a return to the "dirty thirties." Abel charged McDonald with "tuxedo unionism."

At stake in the elections is the future of the joint labor-management Human Relations Commission. This group was created after the 116-day strike in 1959 to smooth the process of contract bargaining. In McDonald's opinion this method has been successful.

However, Abel disagrees. He believes the commission has too much to say about contract issues. He has promised to "return" negotiating functions to the union's 33-member executive board and the 130-member wage policy committee, a view which McDonald holds is outdated.

Negotiations between the USW and the "Big 11" steel producers opened in mid-December and recessed for the holidays. When talks resumed the union elections appeared to take the spotlight. Negotiations were then recessed Jan. 8 until after the elections. It was hoped the bargainers would sit at the table in mid-February.

Twice the USW has rejected pleas by the industry to extend the termination date of the current contract beyond April 30 to compensate for the time lost because of the recess.

The industry faces a quandry: Who will lead the union negotiations-McDonald or Abel?

The union has not called a strike since 1959. During its early years the union had weathered several violent strikes.

Philip Murray was one of the founders of the union and its first president. When he died in 1952, his mantle as the leader fell upon McDonald, his longtime lieutenant.

Call On Young Americans

LBJ Outlines Sacrifices, Rewards of The Great Society

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Johnson today called on young Americans to advance the cause of freedom by sharing fully "in the responsibilities, the dangers and the passions of your time."

The President outlined the sacrifices and rewards of the Great Society in a speech prepared for delivery at ceremonies marking the 100th anniversary of the University of Kentucky at Lexington.

The Great Society cannot be built by government alone, he declared. "It needs your sacrifice and effort."

Johnson told his audience at the university convocation that "we cannot and will not withdraw from this world. We are too rich, too powerful and too important. And we are too concerned.

The President emphasized that he was not speaking of foreign policy, although our relations abroad presented "grave and immediate issues."

He said he was speaking of the challenges to Americans today in domestic and foreign fields. "We care that men are hungry—not only in Appalachia, but in Asia and Africa," he asserted.

"We care that men are oppressed—not only in this country but wherever man is unjust to man.

"We care that men should govern themselves and shape their own destinies—not only in Kentucky but in every corner of every continent.

"We care for peace—not only for ourselves, but for every country torn by conflict."

Johnson warned young Americans they would inherit a world with the greatest danger, but also with "the most promising destiny in history."

"If you wish a sheltered and uneventful life, you are living in the wrong generation," he said. "For only those who dare to fail greatly, can achieve much." He added that American youth "will find meaning only by sharing in the responsibilities, the dangers and the passions of your time."

The Chief Executive and Mrs. Johnson attended services Sunday at historic Christ Church (Episcopal) across the Ptomac in Alexandria, Va., where Washington worshipped. Jthnson sat in the same pew the first president occupied when he attended services.

The Rev. William Sydnor Jr., rector of the 192-year-old church, said it was traditional to invite the President to the Sunday service nearest Washington's birthday.

Smiling and in a jaunty humor, Johnson shook hands with bystanders as he entered and left the church. He was hatless and wore no topcoat in the mild spring-like weather.

He made it a special occasion for Dawn Elaine Lageunes, the infant daughter of a government worker. Dawn was baptized during the service. When the Rev. Mr. Sydnor carried the blue-eyed baby girl around the church during the christening, he stopped at the President's pew. Johnson reached out and patted the child, then took off his tie clasp and put it on her frilly white christening dress.

Man, 28, Held On 2 Charges

A Levittown man was committed to Bucks County Prison early this morning on charges of surety of the peace and malicious use of the telephone.

Robert E. White, 28, of 147 Idlewild Road, Levittown, appeared before Justice of the Peace Dominick Spadaccino of Middletown Township yesterday after complaints were brought by his wife and a friend.

Failing to post the $2,000 bail set by the JP, White was committed to prison until his hearing before Spadaccino tomorrow evening.

Wirtz Says Dock Strike Hurting

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz said today the national interest demands an immediate settlement of the 43-day old dock strike in South Atlantic and West Gulf Coast ports.

"We're hurting and we're hurting badly," Wirtz told newsmen after voicing the same sentiments to the AFL-CIO Executive Council.

Police Hold Youth After Family Fight

By BILL GIGNAC
Courier-Times Staff Writer

A 22-year-old Trevose youth who spent most of Saturday night in a strait jacket will be charged by Lower Southampton Township Police with drunk and disorderly conduct and assault and battery on a police officer.

According to police the following events took place beginning at 6:20 p.m., Saturday.

Police received a report that the youth, Kenneth Schroth, of 1224 West Pine St. came home in an intoxicated state and began punching his father in their home. When police arrived at the home, they saw both father and son fighting on the lawn.

To Break Up Fracas

As investigating officers George Fox, Walter Grosse and John Engelhart stepped in to break up the fracas, the youth began punching and kicking Officer Fox.

The youth kicked Fox in the mouth which chipped one of his front teeth.

At headquarters police learned that Schroth was on a 23-month probationary term in Montgomery County for carrying a concealed weapon. Police said at the police station located on Bridgetown Pike, Feasterville, the youth also became violent.

Required Commitment

Schroth was taken to a Doylestown hospital for treatment of bruises he received while fighting with his father. Police tiied to have Schroth admitted to prison for a probation violation but were unsuccessful because authorities there required a commitment.

The youth was then taken back to police headquarters in Lower Southampton where he again because unmanageable to the extent that police placed the youth in a strait jacket borrowed from the Trevose Heights Rescue Squad.

Squire Albert Pantlen was called and he committed the youth to Bucks County Prison pending a hearing tomorrow night.

In Strait Jacket

According to police, Schroth was so drunk and violent he remained in the strait jacket until they got the youth to prison.

Meanwhile, Chief Edward Wunsch said Montgomery officials would be contacted and they would take the necessary action in connection with the youth's probation violation.

After final disposition of the youth's probation violation, the chief said he would stand trial for drunk and disorderly conduct and assault and battery on a police officer.

It's Mardi Gras Time In 'Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—King Freret will lead his costumed krewe through the streets of New Orleans this evening in the first night parade of the 1965 carnival season.

A Good Day To Be Inside

Arctic weather and an inch of snow stormed into Bucks County today and it was probably a good thing today is a holiday — most people can stay home in bed rather than fight the weather.

Wind gusts up to 40 miles an hour did nothing to ease the discomfort caused by a 20-degree temperatures. A look out the window would show the sun shining gaily but all it contributed was light — no heat.

Rain, Sleet And Snow

Snow began falling about 3 a.m. after rain and freezing sleet had moved in an hour earlier. While accumulation was only 1.2 inches, the wind and cold froze it solid against the ground causing treacherous road conditions.

Pedestrians were blown by the 25-miles-an-hour northwesterly winds and could not gain footing on the ice. The wind gusts also caused hazardous driving as snow was blown across the roads into drifts — some a few feet high.

The State Highway Department had 30 trucks and 120 men on county roads at 3:30 a.m. today spreading cinders and anti-skid materials on main arteries.

From a high of 42 degress at midnight, the thermometer plunged 23 degrees in seven hours to a low of 19. And it hovered there throughout the morning with the mercury reaching only 23 degrees by 3 p.m. today.

The frigid temperatures are to continue through tomorrow with overnight reading dropping to between 10-15 degrees by morning. Warming temperatures are expected Wednesday along with either rain or snow.

Reds Now Agree: Hitler Is Dead

BERLIN (UPI) — The Soviet Union stated publicly last night for the first time that Adolf Hitler killed himself in his chancellory bunk in Berlin.

The Soviets said in an East German radio broadcast that they recovered a charred body from the chancellory garden and it was identified as Hitler's beyond dispute.

The Western Allies have accepted the fact that Hitler committed suicide since they occupied Berlin in July, 1945, but the Soviets have always maintained that there was no evidence to support such a theory.

Tavern Robbed In Levittown

A safe in the Levittown Tavern was broken into over the weekend and its contents robbed.

The owners of the tavern, which is located in the Levittown Shopping Center, disclosed this morning that the amount of money stolen had not yet been determined.

The burglary occurred sometime between 2 a.m. yesterday morning when the tavern closed, and 9 a.m. today when the burglary was discovered.

Tulytown police are investigating along with state police.

Thieves Hit Four Homes

Thieves broke into four Bristol Township homes over the weekend and made off with more than $800 worth in cash, jewelry and guns.

The biggest haul was at the home of Henry Taylor, 89 Idlewild Road, Indian Creek, Levittown, where $500 was taken from a bedroom desk drawer.

The burglars, who entered the house between 7:30 and 9 p.m. Saturday, ransacked both a master and small bedroom, Detective James Dunn stated.

Over $300 worth of cash and jewelry were taken from the home of Samuel Pierce, 609 Girard Ave., Croydon, between 5-9 p.m. Friday.

Sgt. John Lowris and Patrolman Woodrow Wilson reported that thieves pried open the kitchen door with a tool and "literally tore apart" the master bedroom.

Reported missing by Pierce were a .45 caliber automatic pistol with 30 rounds of ammunition, valued at $50; a gold watch valued at $90; a gold ring worth $45; a $30 coin collection; six silver dollars; $1 in change; $6 worth of assorted coins, a ruby ring with two small cut diamonds, $35; a gold woman's ring, $20; a marquisette ring, $20, and a child's ring, $10.

Mrs. Rose McMonigle, 910 Maryland Ave., Croydon, reported her home was ransacked while she was away from home Friday morning to 8:30 a.m. Saturday. However, she told Patrolman Donald Peterson that nothing was taken.

David Sperling of 39 Arbor Lane, Appletree Hill, Levittown, reported the theft of a .22 caliber pistol, fishing box and a chrome rifle bolt from his home between 1:15 a.m. and 8:40 p.m. yesterday.

Patrolman Martin Clark said entry had been gained through a small bedroom window.

When business is slow, there's nothing like getting things rolling yourself.

That seemed to be the theory in the Bernie Powers' household Saturday afternoon.

Bernie, who is president of the Levittown - Fairless Hills Rescue Squad, was on duty at squad headquarters shortly before 5 p.m., musing to himself: "things are pretty quiet for a change."

That did it. Suddenly, the "hot line" rang. It was a harried housewife's call for help. Her son had hit his head on concrete.

It was Bernie's wife, Marilyn. The injured boy was one of Bernie's sons, six-year-old Shawn. He and his brother, Jeff, 8, were wrestling outside when Shawn hit his head on the concrete carport.

Bernie rode the ambulance to 63 Ice Pond Road in Levittown's Indian Creek section, he took his son to Lower Bucks County Hospital where he was treated for lacerations of the head.

Returning to squad headquarters,Bernie resumed his duty tour. Only this time he wasn't making any remarks . . . no matter how slow business seemed to be.

Today, the youngsters weren't especially looking for snow to cause schools to be closed. Most of them in Lower Bucks had the day off for Washington's Birthday.

But nonetheless, they seemed to be enjoying the white cover as snowballs were flying from all angles early this morning.

* * *

Motorists, however, didn't welcome the inch of snow and the 30-mile-an-hour wind gusts which blew the powdery stuff across the highways.

In many places, the swirling snow resembled early dusk rather than early morning as motorists had to turn on their headlights in order to see where they were going.

No Damper On Shoppers

Old Man Winter and his 20-degrees of wind-blown cold, and icy streets, had little effect on Lower Bucks County's Washington's Birthday Sales.

Both the Mill Street Businessmen's Association of Bristol, and the Levittown Businessmen's Association reportted "extremely large crowds" of shoppers taking advantage of bargains.

At noon today both associations said the crowds were holding up well, despite the fact that merchants in both areas reported record receipts for the past weekend.

Riot After Record Hop

200 Teeners Terrorize Residents

PENLLYN, Pa., (UPI) — A crowd of about 200 teen-agers terrorized residents along four streets here last night after an earlier riot in East Greenville, located about 25 miles from here.

Police said a crowd of about 50 teen-agers rioted after a record hop at the East Greenville firehouse and the disturbance swelled when it reached here.

One boy, John Lias, 16, of Pottstown, was injured during the disturbance at East Greenville. Police said the boy, who was a spectator to the fighting, was cut by another youth armed with a knife. Lias was taken to the Pottstown Hospital, treated for lacerations of the head and released.

The first fight was broken up by the East Greenville and Red Hill police chiefs who fired a couple of shots into the air.

Patrolman Edward Hancock of Lower Gwynedd and his brother, Patrolman David Hancock, of Whitpain Twp., were informed as the crowd drove to Penllyn in automobiles. The patrolmen said that when they arrived they found the 200 creating a disturbance and watching two youths stage a fist fight.

Clitnon Boxley, Jr., 23, of Willow Grove, described as an innocent bystander, was attacked by a group of teen-agers during the rioting here. The boy, who was taking a girl friend home, was treated at North Penn Hospital for multiple bruises and lacerations.

"Two of the kids had shotguns," the brothers ssid "Most of them drove off eventually, after shoving us around for a half hour."

Six youngsters were arrested but they were released after questioning when police decided they were merely bystanders.

A spokesman in Gov. Scranton's Harrisburg office said today the conference was one in a series called by the chief executive to bring the legislators from each highway district up to date on his highway plans.

The spokesman said that during the course of the confab, the governor is expected to outline details for the total highway construction plans, whether it means interstate, primary or secondary route work, and what the expenditures will be for each area.
